

ROCKEFELLER LITTLE HELP IN OIL CASE

SENATE FAVORS TWO-TERM RULE FOR PRESIDENTS

56 VOTES CAST FOR RESOLUTION BY LA FOLLETTE

Two Candidates for Republican Nomination Oppose Resolution
AMENDMENTS ARE KILLED
Many Plans Proposed to Resolution to Ease Cal's Feelings

Washington—(AP)—In the opinion of the senate, American presidents should retire from office "after their second term."

Fifty-six members put the senate on record to that effect by adopting the resolution to that effect by La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, declaring it would be unwise and unpatriotic for executives to depart from "the precedent established by Washington and other presidents."

Adopted after four days of debate that centered largely on its bearing upon President Coolidge, the resolution was framed of its paragraph commending "the observance of this precedent by the president." It was eliminated by Senator La Follette when Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, had moved to have it stricken out.

Senator Fess was successful in another attempt to amend the resolution so that it definitely excluded President Coolidge from its meaning. His proposal to have it apply to second "elective" terms was defeated 73 to 5, drawing support only from Fess and Willis of Ohio, Bingham and McLean of Connecticut, and Waterman of Colorado, Republicans.

The Fess paragraph was opposed by administration senators who said it would reflect upon Mr. Coolidge who, they argued, might still accept the nomination, in good faith, while Democrats said the paragraph did not accept in good faith the president's statement that he did not choose to run.

The final vote found 18 Republicans, mostly westerners and including Senator Curtis of Kansas, a presidential candidate, joining 37 Democrats and the one Farmer-Labor senator in support of the resolution. Senator Gillette, Republican, Massachusetts, also voted for it, while Senator Walsh, Democrat of that state, opposed it, with three of the minority party—Blease of South Carolina, Ferris of Michigan and Ransdell of Louisiana.

Two announced candidates for the republican nomination, Senators Watson of Indiana, and Willis of Ohio, voted against the resolution.

POSTPONE ACTION ON TARIFF PLANS

Pan-American Conference Attempts to Decide on Intervention

Havana—(AP)—With discussion of the question of tariff barriers temporarily postponed, the Pan-American conference Saturday turned to an attempt to settle the other chief point of controversy—the question of intervention.

Determined not to delay further agreement or definite disagreement as to the extent of a nation's independence, Charles Evans Hughes, head of the United States delegation, called a meeting Saturday morning of the special sub committee considering the fundamental rights and duties of nations.

Dr. Pueyrredon agreed Friday to have discussion of the preamble of the Pan-American Convention postponed to the Pan-American Conference committee while the committee passed on other matters. He said he did not abandon his previous position. This was that the preamble should include a provision stating that "economic co-operation is an essential factor in Pan-Americanism" and finally urged that all states "propose to support unjust obstacles and artificial and excessive barriers which interfere with the natural flow and restrict the normal development of commerce."

A comprehensive system of tribunals for the settlement of international disputes is proposed in a report prepared by Dr. Ricardo Alfaro, Panamanian minister of War. All devices for settling international quarrels are employed in the project.

DOESN'T KNOW WHERE TO FIND MISSING BONDS

Son of Famous Oil Magnate Desires All Facts to Be Disclosed

STEWART STILL QUIET
Rockefeller Disappointed That Stewart Refused to Testify

Washington—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., whose family name is synonymous with the development of the oil industry, said the senate Teapot Dome committee Saturday that he could throw no light on the disposition of the classic Liberty bonds of the Continental Trading Co. of Canada.

Any man who came to the committee room showed up in a state of nervousness, the son of the famous oil magnate expressed a desire that the facts about the deal and the "national scandal" know no out of it should be brought to light so that the reputation of the oil business might be cleared, but he could not answer the final question the committee preposed.

Rockefeller made a very curt answer when asked forward in the witness chair, most of the time with his hands folded on the small table in front of him. He wore glasses attached to a black silk cord. The senator looked intently at Walsh as the senator reviewed the testimony.

Rockefeller declared himself to be "utterly disappointed" that Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, had asked a full general subpoena without testimony before the committee, but at the same time he expressed the utmost confidence in Stewart's integrity.

"I fully believe," Rockefeller said, "that Stewart has been informed by the committee that he has taken a Rockefeller stand he had disclosed his matter, except to receive Stewart's assurance that neither himself nor his company had profited from the Continental."

JUDGE POSTPONES HICKMAN VERDICT

Murderer to Be Sentenced Tuesday if New Trial Is Not Granted

Los Angeles, Calif.—(AP)—The sentencing of William Edward Hickman for the murder of Marian Parker Saturday was postponed to next Tuesday by Superior Judge J. J. Tamm, at which time arguments will be heard on the motion for a new trial filed Saturday by counsel for "The Fox."

Nearly a score of allegations of trial errors and violations of rights of the defendant were set forth by Jerome Walsh, chief defense counsel, in his motion for a new trial.

Walsh also charged that new evidence had been discovered which was material and admissible and which could not, with reasonable diligence, have been discovered previously.

He alleged there were "errors of law" in his client's guilty trial; that the verdict was contrary to the evidence; that the court erred in granting the jury a new trial.

The court ruled that the sentencing would be delayed to Tuesday morning when arguments on the motion would be heard. If the new trial is denied, Walsh has indicated he will impose an arrest of judgment. If it also is denied the sentencing is expected to follow, after which notices of an appeal to the California Supreme court would be filed, Walsh has stated.

The arrest of the millionaire theatre owner came as a result of stories told by two girls who were arrested in a downtown hotel Feb. 7. The younger girl was sent to the detention home and the older one is held on a charge of vagrancy.

END OF PRODUCTION FOR OIL WELLS SEEN, CORRESPONDENT SAYS

Rodney Dutcher Declares Fifth of Known Reserve Taken from Wells in 1927

EDITOR'S NOTE: Today's Post-Crescent presents the first of a series of 12 comprehensive articles on the oil crisis, here and abroad. In the following article Rodney Dutcher, a Washington correspondent for the Post-Crescent, shows why an oil famine is threatening America.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—Somewhere we will have an oil shortage in this country and the price of gasoline may rise so high that few of us will be able to keep our automobiles.

More than a year ago the president's Federal Oil Conservation Board estimated that the nation's available known oil reserves amounted to about 4,500,000,000 barrels, a theoretical six-year supply.

CONDITION WILL NOT LAST

In 1927 we took 500,000,000 barrels from the ground at the approximate rate of 2,500,000 barrels a day. There was a large overproduction as a result of discovery of the great Seminole fields in Oklahoma and we continued to export more oil than we imported. But this condition is not likely to last long, for there have been recent years when consumption exceeded the output. Toward the end of the year the Seminole's production dropped from 500,000 to 200,000 barrels a day.

While we are producing and selling out oil almost as fast as we can get it out of the ground, other nations are hoarding theirs. The best "scientific guess" available is that foreign countries amount to more than forty billion barrels as compared to our five billion or less. Yet we are producing more than 70 per cent of the world's total production!

This means, or appears to mean, that before long we will be buying the bulk of our oil from foreign lands and that we may be at their mercy many decades before the world supply is exhausted.

ONE-THIRD LEFT

Two-thirds of our oil reserves, according to the Federal Oil Board, have been exploited. We have taken 10,000,000 barrels of oil from the ground, five billions of them in the last six years. The remaining one-third of unexploited reserves may produce more than five billion barrels and it may produce less, for no one knows how much oil will come out of an un drilled well.

This nation uses nearly 1,500,000 barrels of oil a day and consumption is constantly increasing. In 1922 the new supply showed a gain of 2 per cent, while the domestic demand increased 7 per cent. Overproduction, of course, altered these figures for 1927.

Our demand for oil and gasoline has trebled in a decade and doubled in four years. Figures show gasoline are 128,000,000 barrels in 1922, 260,000,000 in 1926, and 300,000,000 in 1927.

After demand definitely passes production, many experts believe the price of oil and gasoline will soon be more than doubled. This will seriously affect the owners of 25,000,000 automobiles in the United States, but it will mean much added expense to nearly every industry—especially to users of oil furnaces.

WELLS SHORT LIVED

As demonstrating the urgency to conditions of domestic shortage, it was estimated that as much as 100,000 barrels would be taken from stores above ground to meet the demand in 1927. Overproduction avoided that necessity.

Oil wells, at least, produce at maximum capacity for no more than three years. There are wells in Pennsylvania, for instance, which once produced 500 or 600 barrels a day compared with perhaps a daily barrel now.

The whole subject is admittedly so conjectural that no one can say when new wells will stop coming in. If we knew, something probably would be done about it but today the authorities on this subject are opinions ranging all the way from the belief that we will have a definite oil famine in two or three years to the theory that the supply will last forever.

PRODUCTION NEARS PEAK

When the new wells stop coming in, production, unless bolstered by new methods, will drop some 50 per cent. The young wells, about 4 per cent of the wells, now furnish about half the daily supply. The big gushers of the new Seminole field have produced nearly one-seventh of the national 900,000,000-barrel production this year but the average yield per well will be little more than the 7.5 barrels produced last year.

President Coolidge, in his letter to the Conservation Board, consisting of the secretary of the interior, the secretary of the navy, and the secretary of commerce—said: "The failure to bring in producing wells for a two-year period would slow down the wheels of industry and bring about serious economic depression. The problem of a future shortage in fuel and lubricating oil, not to mention gasoline, must be avoided, and manufacturing productivity will be curtailed to an extent not easily calculated."

WAR-TIME NECESSITY

In the same letter he observed that "it is even probable that the supremacy of nations may be determined by the possession of available petroleum and its products."

Prof. John Lee, Kansas economist, in "The United States and Its Oil Policy," said:

"The motto on our coins should not be made our national policy in providing a future oil supply."

Lincoln Excelled At Other Things Besides Statesmanship-Fond Of Races And Cock Fights

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—If the young man of the house spends some of his evenings at the bowling alleys, don't discourage him. He is merely following in one or two of the footsteps of Abraham Lincoln.

Those were the days when Lincoln was only a congressman. He served in the House from 1847 to 1849 and apparently wanted to continue, but there was no overwhelming demand for him in his Illinois district.

While in Washington for those two years, however, he took keen delight in the old games of the bowling alley and he was fairly good at it, judging from the meager accounts of his prowess now available.

He bowled match games with other members of Congress at the alley in James Caspari's hotel, known as the Congress Hall Refectory, on Capitol Square, opposite the House of Representatives. The hotel has long ago disappeared and its site is now a part of the Capitol grounds.

ALWAYS WATCHED BY CROWDS

"He played the game with great gusto," according to the only account of Congressman Lincoln's sporting activities here that this writer can locate. "Whether he won or lost, it was all the same to him. His gaunt figure added to the bystanders' entertainment. When he played a crowd gathered, especially to hear his jokes; some of which were reduced to the appreciation of a mere man."

The records don't seem to disclose whether Lincoln learned to bowl here or at the Illinois state capital while a legislator. Lincoln had prodigious strength and in his early Illinois days was fond of physical recreation of the simpler sort such as wrestling.

"In sports requiring either muscle or skill, he took no little interest," wrote Herndon, his law partner and biographer. "He indulged in all the games of the day, even to a horse race or a cock fight."

HAD FAITH IN HIS DECISIONS

Lincoln's reputation for fairness and ability to enforce his decisions caused him to be selected as umpire when there was argument about the outcome of a cock fight, according to Herndon. Townsman of New Salem looked up to him for his prodigious strength. "Once by an arrangement of ropes and weights, he nipped about his hips, he was enabled one day at the mill to astonish a crowd of village celebrities by lifting a box of stones weighing near a thousand pounds."

At his first speech, in Pappsville, near Springfield, Ill., a free-for-all fight broke out and when Lincoln noticed one of his friends getting the worst of it, he stepped down—and threw the assailant some 12 feet—

Lincoln was a popular congressman here, but he was not regarded as presidential material.

Abraham Lincoln as a congressman

"There is no fiction either," adds Herndon, "in the story that he once lifted a barrel of whisky from an arrangement of ropes and weights, he nipped about his hips, he was enabled one day at the mill to astonish a crowd of village celebrities by lifting a box of stones weighing near a thousand pounds."

At his first speech, in Pappsville, near Springfield, Ill., a free-for-all fight broke out and when Lincoln noticed one of his friends getting the worst of it, he stepped down—and threw the assailant some 12 feet—

Lincoln was a popular congressman here, but he was not regarded as presidential material.

LABOR COMPLIMENTS FIRE DEPARTMENTS

Did All It Could at Zuelke Fire, Trades Council Says in Resolution

A resolution commending the work of the Appleton fire department during the $250,000 Zuelke fire was adopted at a meeting of the Trades and Labor council this week.

Members of the council said they had heard criticism of the department but after an investigation they were convinced that the department had done all in its power. Inspection of the ruins showed that parts of the hose still remained in the basement and holes through the floors showed that the firemen made every effort to reach the base of the fire before it spread through the building. Following is the resolution.

"Resolved, That the members of the Appleton Trades and Labor council in regular session, go on record as endorsing the efficiency of the Appleton Fire department during the Zuelke fire."

The trades council also adopted a resolution inviting people to discussing civic or labor activities with the council. Audiences may be secured by appearing at the meetings or by arranging with Fred E. Bachman, president.

WITNESS IS FINED FOR REFUSAL TO TAKE OATH

Berlin—(AP)—His refusal to take the oath as witness in an embezzlement trial, involved Heinrich Spor, a local business man of Muelheim on the Ruhr, in a conflict with the district court of that city.

Witness pleaded exemption from the oath as a member of the religious sect known as the "Bible Researchers," who, according to the doctrines of the Book, he said, considered such an oath a sacrifice.

With manifest impatience the judge remarked: "Just you stop harping on the Bible. We don't deal in the Holy Scriptures here but in the German penal code and the court is empowered to punish your refusal with a fine or even a sentence to jail."

But the witness remained adamant and with the words: "One should honor the Deity more than human beings, I am not afraid," calmly agreed to pay the imposed fine of 50 marks.

administration and protection of Glacier National Park.

Introducing bills for federal magazine and book censorship promises to become a popular method of getting in right with the reformers back home. Congressman Wilson of Mississippi had one such: now comes Tillman of Arkansas with another. Both bills are too drastic to get anywhere for quite a while yet.

Ninety workers, representing Appleton, Neenah and Menasha civic organizations, will take the field bright and early next Wednesday morning to raise funds with which to finance Boy Scout activities for the coming year.

Their goal will be $9,000-$10,000 from Appleton and the balance from the other cities and the campaign will last three days, ending Friday night.

The workers will not go about the city in the usual manner of solicitation. They will go about in the usual manner of solicitation. They will go about in the usual manner of solicitation.

The attention of the public has been called to the Boy Scouts during the past week by meetings and other programs, the occasion being the celebrating ends with a giant mobilization of the founding of the organization in the United States. The work of solicitation ends with a giant mobilization call Saturday afternoon.

Much work will be done by the committee in charge to make the path of the solicitors an easy one. Beginning Monday, 20,000 milk bottle tags will be distributed at each home where local dairies furnish milk—3,000 folders have been mailed out to prospective givers, informing them of the work of the scouts and the proposed work for the coming year—moving pictures in local theatres have given the audience a taste of scouts life, and an exhibit of scout handicraft will be placed in a local department store. It attracted much attention from the shoppers in stores in the Twin Cities where it is on display this week.

When the work of solicitation gets underway, there will be workers from Rotary club, the Lions, the Kiwanis, Knights of Pythias, Y's Mens club and the American Legion in the ranks. All civic organizations have given their sanction to the request for aid by the Scouts. Mayor A. C. Rule, in declaring himself in favor of the scout organization, said: "Anything we can do to improve the coming generation should have one hundred support of the people. We cannot do enough to help them along."

The following members of the financial executive board have done much for the scout organization in the coming drive: F. N. Belanger, William H. Falatic, E. E. Cahal, George Packard, Walter Zwicker, John Reid, Frank Younger, H. L. Gear, Mowry Smith and Dr. J. M. Donovan and Louis Bonini. Mr. Gear, Mr. Smith and Dr. Donovan are from the twin cities and are leaders in the work in that vicinity.

The publicity work for the campaign is under the direction of Mr. Falatic, Mr. Reid, Mr. Zwicker and Mr. Gear, and F. N. Belanger is campaign chairman.

COOPERATION URGED ON BLACK CREEK MEN

Better Prices Assured Farmers if They Work Together, Comings Says

BY W. F. WINSEY

Black Creek—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Black Creek Cooperative Creamery was held in the village hall Friday 4.

The following directors were elected: A. G. Brusevitz, E. J. Mory, William Schroeder, L. Schuchnecht, Edward Kluge, and H. E. Zabel.

George F. Comings of the Wisconsin Department of Markets, talked on the progress society has made from the federal system, through the capitalist system, and the competitive system to the cooperative system. Fifty stockholders attended the meeting.

Mr. Comings said the perspective of farmers is altogether too short. A penny placed before their eyes will often conceal $100 a little beyond, he said. "Education and organization mean everything to a farming community. If affairs are so shaped in a state that laborers in cities own their houses and farmers own their farms, ideal conditions prevail and both classes are contented and happy. But when laborers and farmers are renters and occupy the position of peasants, they are ready for revolution at any time."

Cooperation is a popular subject for speakers at the present time, Mr. Comings said. It is easy to talk cooperation but it is very difficult to practice it, he said.

"We have been brought up in a system of competition. All men say that cooperation among farmers is a good thing but they do everything possible to keep farmers from organizing and to make them distrustful and suspicious of each other. Your enemies are trying to defeat your attempts at cooperation."

One of the defects in cooperative bodies of farmers is that the farmers who do not belong to the organization get the same financial benefits as the members, Mr. Comings contended. But in case there is no cooperative organization of farmers in a community, farmers get a much lower price for their products than in other communities having cooperative organizations. This difference in prices of farm products in the various sections of Minnesota caused such a hardship for farmers that the legislature by law prevented the paying of a low price in communities where there were no cooperative marketing organization and a higher price in other communities where cooperative organizations were at work.

"Marketing conditions in Wisconsin are bad, Mr. Comings said. There is too great a spread between the price that the farmer gets for his products and the price the consumer has to pay."

"If you farmers here in Black Creek get together in a cooperative body and if the primary election do so you might eventually have a voice in the market."

Farmers should think of their

This Group Of Businessmen Strong For Traffic Lights

A dozen business men picked at random, all spoke in favor of installing traffic lights on College-ave.

Although all of them do not favor lights at all intersections west from Oneida-st to Cherry-st, most of them think that a complete system would speed up traffic and eliminate crossing dangers.

Following is what some of them thought about the proposed system:

Harvey Schmitz—I think that traffic lights should be installed at Walnut-st above all places. Because school children from St. Joseph school cross the street there, there is need for protection of some kind. There have been numerous accidents at that corner lately.

Charles Huesemann—If the merchants and people living in that part of the city want traffic lights, then I think they should have them installed. There is no question but what they promote safety and help speed up traffic.

Conrad Verbrick—Traffic lights on a thoroughfare as busy as College-ave are a necessity and should be installed at once.

Ensl Walthers—There is no question but that earnings should be protected and I know of no better way than the traffic lights. Unless the city has traffic lights, it will be necessary to station policemen at the corners at least a portion of the time and electricity is cheaper than policemen.

Ambrose Wilton—Without giving the subject much thought, I believe traffic lights are a good thing. They certainly should do something to speed up traffic on the avenue.

Dr. J. B. McLaren—Of course there should be traffic lights installed on College-ave, not only west of Oneida-st, but at Morrison-st as well. In my judgment we need a safety system of some kind.

George Rettengel—I think there should be traffic lights where the streets cross. That does not hold true in all streets coming into College-ave because all of them do not have heavy traffic.

More than 500 state income returns have been filed with Leo Toonen, assessor, up to Saturday. The blanks were mailed out earlier in the week and must be returned to Mr. Toonen not later than March 15. Those who fail to make returns by March 15 will be subject to a $5 whether they must pay a tax or not. All single men with an income of $800 and married men with an income of $1,500 must file a return.

Those who did not receive blanks through the mails may get them by calling at Mr. Toonen's office at the county courthouse. Any persons desiring help in filling out their returns may call at Mr. Toonen's office between 10 and 12 and 2 and 4 o'clock every weekday. While the office is open before and after these hours, Mr. Toonen said no service can be given to the public then as that time is needed by the clerks in completing routine work.

INCOME TAX TO BE COMPUTED ON 1926 AND 1927 INCOMES

Single Men Earning Over $800, Married Men Earning
Over $1,600 Must File

Every single man in Outagamie-co with gross income of $800 or more and every married man with a gross income of $1,600 must file a state income tax report, according to Leo G. Toonen, assessor of incomes. Mr. Toonen Friday received a copy of the law passed by the legislature at its special session a week ago and he said that all those who fail to file a return, whether they are obliged to pay a tax, will be fined $5.

The income tax for 1926 will be figured on the basis of two-thirds of the 1926 net taxable income and one-third of the net taxable income. Mr. Toonen said. For instance, if a man's net taxable income in 1926 is $3,000 and in 1927 is $3,500 he would pay a tax on an income of $3,250 or two-thirds of his 1926 income and one-third of his 1927 income. Mr. Toonen explained. In 1928 the income tax will be figured on the average net taxable income for 1926, 1927 and 1928.

All married men who earn $1,600 or more must file returns regardless of the number of children they have, Mr. Toonen said.

Personal credits are set by the new law on a flat basis. Single men are allowed a credit of $8 from the total tax and married are allowed a credit of $17.50 with an extra $3 for each child.

For instance if a married man with four children is assessed $59 on his income he is allowed a $17.50 credit for himself and wife and an extra $12 for his children making his credit $29.50 and leaving a tax of $21.50, Mr. Toonen explained.

Income tax blanks were mailed out by Mr. Toonen early this week and those who have not received one may call at the assessor's office at the courthouse. The office is open to the public from 10 to 12 o'clock each morning and from 2 to 4 o'clock each afternoon.

Mr. Toonen said his office would be able to serve the public only between these hours although the office was open from 8 until 5 o'clock. He said the extra time was needed on office routine work and he asked people who desire help not to call except between 10 and 4 o'clock.

CHAMBERS STUDYING TAXATION PROBLEMS

Nation-wide Study Being Made With Two Wisconsin
Men on Committee

A project for a nation-wide study of state and local taxation will be launched Monday by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States with the announcement by President Leonard E. Toonen of a special committee to consider the project.

Finance, industry and agriculture will be represented on the committee, which will be under the chairmanship of Felix M. McWhirter, president of the Peoples State bank of Indianapolis.

Although there are but two dozen members of the committee, Wisconsin is represented by two concerns. They are F. H. Clausen, president of the Van Brunt manufacturing company, Horicon, and D. C. Everett, president of the Marathon Paper company, Rothschild.

Commenting on the appointment, Mr. McWhirter said: "Eternal vigilance and relentless insistence that the public get a dollar's worth of value for every dollar spent is a cardinal need. The situation holds tremendous possibilities for immediate, effective work."

"State and municipal expenditures have reached totals in recent years which compel the consideration and constructive effort of the taxpayers themselves. The effectiveness of this nation-wide program rests upon the local chambers of commerce and trade associations which are organization members of the National Chamber. The latter will provide facts and information on various state and municipal tax questions and, through this new committee, will go energetically into the study of the situation and the determination of successful, practical measures for improvement."

STUDENTS WILL GIVE PROGRAM FOR PARENTS

Countryside school, district No. 5, town of Bovine, will hold a parents' day on Feb. 14, according to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. Regular classes will be held during the morning and in the afternoon up to 2:30, when a special program will be given. Leonard Henry is teacher of this school.

Many Women After Seats In British Parliament

BY MILTON BRONNER

London — When Prime Minister Baldwin finally decides to go to the country for a fresh Parliamentary election, the chances are that there will be 50 women candidates for seats in the House of Commons. The candidacy of 38 already has been endorsed by the three big parties. This sets a record for Great Britain, where women play a far larger part in politics than they do in America.

Each big British party has a small army of women speakers and organizers. Practically every candidate for Parliament whose wife has any oratorical abilities at all turns his "missus" loose on the stump when he is running.

Premier Baldwin is no busier on the hustings than Mrs. Baldwin and their daughter, Miss Betty. Lloyd George is a silver-tongued orator, but Mrs. L. G. and Miss Megan also go on Stumping tours.

The present U. S. House of Representatives has its high tide of women members—four. The present House of Commons has seven, and each has made a distinct place for herself. There are four Tory members and three Labor members.

Mrs. Hilton Phillips, who used to be Mabel Russell on the stage, does not often speak, but does most of her work in committee. Lady Iveagh, recently elected, has a career in some ways parallel to that of Lady Astor, the first woman ever to take a seat in Parliament. When Viscount Astor succeeded to the title by the death of his father, he was translated to the House of Lords. His wife ran for his vacated seat in the Commons and was elected. Lady Iveagh's husband recently became a Lord by the death of his father, a famous brewer. She was chosen to fill his place in Commons, and made a good impression within a week.

The Duchess of Atholl is under secretary of state for the Education Department and therefore a member of the cabinet. Although very rich she is the dowdiest-dressed woman member, always garbed in long, dark dress, with her hair uncropped and done up in the old-fashioned style.

The three Labor members, Misses Susan Lawrence, Margaret Bondfield and Ellen Wilkinson, all are specialists in labor and economic questions, and all of them are good speakers, trained by years of experience on the stump.

These seven women members all will run again. To date the Liberals have endorsed 6 women candidates, the Tories nine, and Labor 22.

An interesting Tory candidate will be the famous Mrs. Pankhurst, who led the battle for women's suffrage.

Among Labor's candidates will be some more recruits from the aristocracy. One of them is Lady Cynthia Mosley, wife of Oswald Mosley, heir to an old baronetcy and himself a Labor member of Parliament. Lady Cynthia is a daughter of that proud Tory aristocrat, the late Lord Curzon, and granddaughter of Lord Leister, the famous Chicago capitalist of the 'eighties.

Miss Megan Lloyd George for some time has been reported intending to run as a Liberal.

Bulletins at Library Show
How Government Protects
Purchasers

Merchants, manufacturers, consumers of all types can buy materials according to impartial scientific tests, the results of which are described in a series of bulletins compiled by the Bureau of Standards of the United States government. These bulletins have been sent for use in Appleton public library by Congressman George F. Schneider to

H. E. Feabody, member of the book committee of the library.

The Bureau of Standards is a part of the department of the interior, made up of experts in most every field of activity. Its purpose is to foster interest in pure and applied measurement, and to determine effective magnitudes for economy and high utility in products consumers may assign for study such as metals, cements, glass, textiles, paper, rubber, sugar. It is the national agency for standardization and industrial research.

Research work in devices connected with the utility of light, heat, electricity, and power comprises a large part of the department's work. The general public is served through correspondence, publications, researches, tests and the like.

equivalent to measures used in cooking may be obtained by the housewife. A new type of "baby board" has been devised for linear measurement of the child. Growth from week to week can be measured accurately in this manner.

Information as to the best kind of food and the most economical way in its utility given out by the bureau helps the housewife save a considerable amount each year. A advantage from such a program can be estimated from the fine results of the Pure Food act and the Pure Food law. The same principle is practiced by the bureau in all other fields, giving the general public the best possible service.

Investigation as to the best method of killing farm bacteria and rare is another phase of the work of the department. Owners of automobiles who

LATEST NEWS OF THE AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY

SERVICE FIRMS LIKE THE NEW CHEVROLET

Herz Driveurself Corporation Replacing All Cars With New Models

Detroit—Wholesale replacement of former Chevrolet models with the new 1925 line is now under way by the Herz Driveurself Corporation one of the largest fleet users of passenger automobiles in the world, which controls the operation of automobile rental stations in more than 300 representative cities in the United States and Canada, according to advices received here from Chas. W. Litsey, operating vice-president and general manager of the Herz organization, with headquarters at Chicago.

Replacement of old models with new ones is a regular periodical event with us, made possible by the extreme popularity of our Chevrolets," said Mr. Litsey. "This means that they are almost constantly on the road, and as a result they pile up a tremendous mileage total at the end of a year. In addition their low initial cost and economy of operation enable us to pay out in Herz mileage our full investment within twelve months, despite the fact that our Chevrolet rental rates are lower than on any other make of car in our service.

During 1923 practically all former Chevrolet models will be replaced with the 'Bigger and Better' line in order that full advantage of the added features in the new car may be available for Herz patrons. More than 3,000 Chevrolets are now in use by Herz stations, and this number will be considerably augmented during the year because of the insistent calls for this make of car.

"We have used Chevrolets in the Herz organization consistently since inception. They now make up approximately one-fourth the total number of cars in our service.

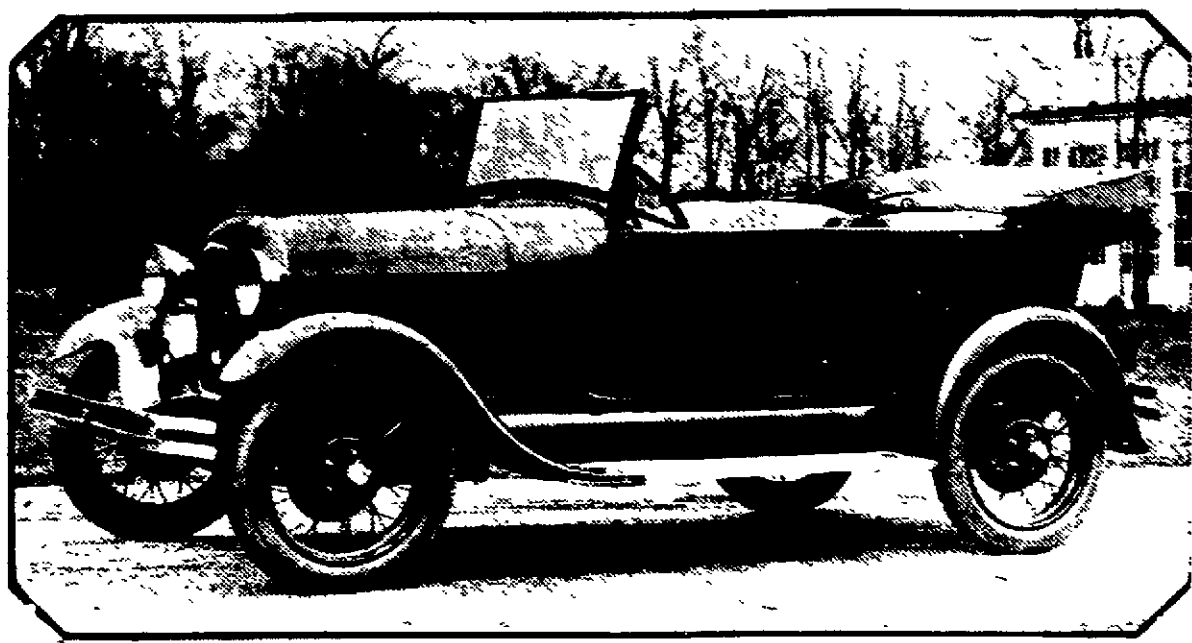

"The Herz rental stations now have on hand the complete line of Chevrolet passenger models to meet the demands of our customers. The sport cabriolet and the coupe are overwhelmingly favorites among business and professional people. The rear deck passenger or luggage compartment on this type of car plays a big part in their selection.

"The larger types, combining beauty with performance, are in high favor for evening engagements and weekend trips; while those who take advantage of our weekly rate plan are contented out-of-town business or vacation tours select the type best fitted to their needs.

"Our organization was immensely impressed with the many points of advantage of the 'Bigger and Better' Chevrolet line over the 1927 car, and we feel assured that a substantial growth in our 1925 business will be effected by reason of the country-wide enthusiasm which I understand the new car is commanding."

Having spent his life in repairing the clog shoes worn by mums and poor children, Thomas Mycecaugh, of Preston, England, died recently, leaving an estate valued at nearly $38,000.

BARGAIN HUNTERS IN BATTERY TRADE, TOO

Most Purchasers Fail to Notice Cause for Price, Schroeder Says

"In the battery business we find bargain hunters just the same as in any other merchandising business," says Al Schroeder, local Willard battery dealer. "Few stop to consider the cause for the low prices, but see prices only."

"The result is they are continually having trouble and the upkeep of their bargain soon eats up the difference in price.

The old saying "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" holds true with the price element. Mr. Schroeder says that at his station many car drivers come in with cheap batteries not properly fitted for their cars and which are therefore practically a waste of money.

A battery to an automobile is just as important as pasteurized milk for a baby. Would you spare any expense in getting the best of milk obtainable? Of course not—it means the life of the child and builds up strength for later life.

Money spent at the start in both of these cases, is a careful investment and the cost of maintaining will be less later on.

Manufacturers of quality storage batteries realize this mistaken feeling but refuse to sacrifice quality for price. They are, however, able to offer, because of volume business, a better line of batteries at lower prices than ever before in their history—batteries in which low price is combined with quality.

For advertisements in the last three issues of the London telephone directory, the British Government received $255,000.

3 STUDEBAKER CARS MAKE RECORD TESTS

Given Careful Check by A. A. Men After 25,000 Mile Run

Few motorists who read that three Studebaker Commanders had broken an existing speed and endurance record in tests supervised by the American Automobile Association, realized the importance of the statement. "At the end of the run the cars were checked by the Technical Committee of the A. A. A. and found to be strictly stock in every respect."

Last fall Studebaker decided to substitute facts for adjectives in emphasizing the remarkable performance built into all Studebaker and Erskine cars. The Erskine, The Dictator, and The Commander were put through tests that won for Studebaker all the highest endurance and speed records for fully equipped stock cars, regardless of power or price.

Day after day members of the Contest Board and Technical Committee of the American Automobile Association checked the performance of these cars as they whirled around the steeply banked track at the Atlantic City Speedway. Every move the car made was under the observation of A. A. A. checkers.

After sixteen days and sixteen nights of more than mile-a-minute speed, The Commander had established an amazing world record of 25,000 miles in less than 25,000 minutes. Even then the task of the A. A. A. men was not finished. Wary drivers and pit crews held their celebration over the success of the run, but the A. A. A. men had one more task to perform—a detailed check of all three cars to make sure they were stock cars in every respect.

At the end of the run the Technical Committee took complete charge of the cars. They were placed under lock and key in a neutral garage in Philadelphia. There they were completely torn down. Part by part they were compared with new Commanders taken at random from the stock of Studebaker dealers. Studebaker engineers had furnished the Technical Committee with copies of standard factory specifications, and these and Studebaker catalogues were also compared with measurements of the record-breaking cars.

Not until every detail of the cars had been checked did the Technical Committee pronounce the cars strictly stock, and thus pave the way for official approval of the records by the A. A. A. Contest Board. Curtis Motor Sales, 215 E. Washington St. is the local Studebaker and Erskine Dealer.

WAR ACE MAKING TOUR IN LASALLE

Captain E. V. Rickenbacker Will Visit 100 Cities While on Trip

Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, following his recent appointment as chief manager of the Cadillac Motor Car company specializing on the La Salle, has begun a tour of 100 cities of the country in approximately 100 days for the purpose of getting acquainted with the company's distribution organization and cementing contacts between them and the factory officials and executives.

The former war president and director of sales of the Rickenbacker Motor company has also made his mark as ace of the American flying forces during the World War, as race track driver of earlier days and as director of development work on a number of automobile engines.

He is also president of La Salle's Motor Interest, and a chairman for the period 1927-28 of the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association.

Following his recent Cadillac appointment, he has met many members of the Cadillac-LaSalle organization at New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Chicago automobile shows. His tour began at the close of the Chicago show with a visit to Milwaukee and Minneapolis, whence he will continue westward to the Pacific coast, south to California and eastward through New Orleans, reaching the Atlantic coast for the show at Boston and continuing with an extensive tour of eastern states.

OAKLAND OWNER, 91, STILL DRIVES CAR

Michigan Man Compares OX Team Travel With Speed of Today's Machines

Ninety-one years old and still driving an automobile, Alden Ward Chase, a resident of White Plains, Mich., who has been still driving a car nine years in a row when he attains the century mark, is a surprising sight and an exponent of "keeping up with the times."

The hand that 80 years ago snapped a bull whip during an ox-team trek from Indiana to Michigan has acquired and retained the art of guiding a motor car in modern traffic. He was 52 years old when he obtained his first driver's license and proudly exhibits the document to anyone who may question his age.

In the last four years he has driven his Oakland touring car a distance of 13,000 miles. During a recent visit to Detroit he borrowed an All-American Sport Roadster and drove it around for an hour "just to see whether they still make 'em as good as my old car."

"When I came to Michigan by ox-team, ten miles a day was good traveling," he said. "Now we tout anybody off the center of the road if they loaf along at ten miles an hour. The modern 'covered wagon' is fine—but for a real 'kick' I like the open cars best. I was brought up on fresh air and I never got over the fresh air kick."

MOTORS ARE SLOWLY OUSTING WINDMILLS

Department of Commerce Reports Show Agricultural Landmark Is Doomed

Washington—(AP)—The windmill is losing its place to the combustion engine and hydro-electric power. Department of commerce reports indicate it is one of the few items of agricultural machinery whose exports have failed to increase since pre-war days.

Even Holland, famed home of the windmill, is turning to the electric power pump. Germany, largest power producer and user of windmills, is doing an increased export business, but is experimenting with an adaptation of the power plant of the motor ship by employing a rotor tower to pump water. Germany is also producing windmills on electric generators.

Sections of Holland with extensive territory made up of polders, with water, such as Argentina, South Africa and Canada, still are buying windmills from the United States, however. Argentina is the best customer, taking about one-third of the total exports.

WANT EXCHANGE TO BE OPEN SATURDAYS

English Week-end Will Be Shortened if Brokers Listen to Plea

London—(AP)—Insistent demands for the opening of the London stock exchange for business on Saturdays threaten to shorten the week-end of many employees in the financial district, also of many school-boys and bankers.

The thriving business which the New York Stock Exchange has seen Saturday days and the prospect of the British Exchange, which closes on Saturday only during the summer months, provide a text for critics of the London Exchange.

London Banks keep open till noon on Saturdays. Employees are urged to work on Saturdays in the interests of the country, so they could do so if the exchange were to open on Saturdays.

On a recent Saturday the New York Stock Exchange totaled about 500,000 shares. The Daily Express, estimating that the London exchange turnover is about 100,000 shares, said that the London Exchange is open on Saturdays.

VICTORY SIX COUPE ON MARKET

Dodge Brothers Victory Six Coupe

The habit linings in the connecting rods of Dodge Brothers Senior and Dodge Brothers Victory Six are cast permanently in the rods. The drop forged steel rod is revolved at high speed during the pouring of the molten metal to secure maximum density and soundness and firm bonding of the lining. Light weight and easy heat conduction are the advantages claimed for the construction.

The exhaust valves of Dodge Brothers Victory Six are of one piece construction forged from high speed steel, the same material used for airplane motor valves, and heat treated. The exhaust valves are 1 1/2 inches in diameter. The intake valves are 1 1/4 inches larger in diameter than the exhaust to permit easy flow of the fuel charge from the carburetor and manifold into the cylinder at high speed.

The front springs of Dodge Brothers Victory Six are 37 inches long by 1 1/2 inches wide and the rear are 34 inches long by 2 inches wide. Every leaf of every spring is of heat treated chrome vanadium steel.

To insure equality of compression pressure and of power impulses each combustion of Dodge Brothers Victory Six is completely machined. The shape of the head has been carefully designed to secure an easy flow of the incoming charge and quick burning, a feature which favors high fuel economy. The importance is more apparent when it is considered that at a speed of a mile a minute a new charge must be drawn into the cylinder from the carburetor, compressed, ignited, burned and exhausted twenty-five times in each second.

All of the ducts which carry the oil to the seven main bearings, to the six connecting rod bearings and to the four camshaft bearings in Dodge Brothers Senior engine are drilled passages in the case and in the crankshaft with the exception of one short cooper tube extending from the oil pump to the main. The gear type oil pump, which is located near the bottom of the pressed steel oil pan, maintains a pressure of 35 to 45 pounds in the oil lines. The same construction is followed in the full force feed oiling system of Dodge Brothers new Victory Six.

The ball and socket type steering knuckle tie rod ends on Dodge Brothers Senior and the new Victory Six are provided with an ingenious arrangement for taking up automatically any wear or play. Two crescent shaped hardened steel pieces held in place by a retaining spring surround the ball. The spring automatically moves the shoes in a circular path far enough to take up any lost motion. This construction is said to aid materially in preventing any tendency toward shimmying.

The drive pinion of Dodge Brothers Victory Six is straddle mounted between a straight roller bearing and two tapered roller bearings. The latter take thrust both ways and are adjustable to provide means for securing proper meshing of the pinion and ring gear. The pinion is integral with the short pinion shaft and both the pinion and the ring gear are of heat treated chrome vanadium steel.

The Blazing Horizon

ERNEST LYNN

THE STORY THUS FAR

The story is laid in the Indian territory and along the Kansas border in the '30's, when a fight was being waged by the "Boomers" for the opening of the territory to settlement.

Chief characters are:

TONY HARRISON, orphaned at 13 when his father was murdered in a poker game;

PAWNEE BILL, adventurer, Indian interpreter and showman;

JOE CRAIG, who takes Tony to the Bar K ranch to live;

TITUS MOORE, owner of the Bar K;

RITA MOORE, his little tomboy daughter.

The boy grows up on the ranch and learns the cowboy's trade. When Rita and her mother depart for the east he learns for the first time how much he cares for the red-haired, arrogant beauty.

He tries to forget Rita Moore and accompanies Pawnee Bill and BUF-FALO BILL on a wild west show tour.

After many adventures he returns; but Rita comes back for a visit and he is unable to keep from declaring his love for her.

When she tearfully admits she is engaged to another, he leaves the ranch and disappears.

When Pawnee Bill organizes his own wild west show, Tony goes with it and in Washington he and another cowboy go on a spree and rope a cigar store Indian and drag it down Pennsylvania avenue.

CHAPTER XXXVII

Joe Stevens swung his own rope, let out a loud "Whoop!" and the two of them rode down Pennsylvania avenue at a gallop, dragging the heavy, cumbersome thing behind them.

It rattled and banged as they progressed wildly through the street, threatening disaster to the innumerable carriages they passed and provoking loud and joyous cries from amazed spectators on the sidewalks.

A mounted man in uniform heard the shouting, spied them and galloped in pursuit. Tony Harrison saw him over his shoulder and shouted at Stevens, "Don't forget to tell him about your brother-in-law, Joe."

"Hell with him," Stevens said contemptuously. "I'm aiming to scalp this Indian right on the White House lawn."

At Fourteenth street two round men caught sight of the strange spectacle and joined in the chase. One of them succeeded in getting hold of the wooden Indian, but a sudden jerk of the rope pulled him flat. Above the shouting arose the piercing notes of police whistles. Traffic was confused and nervous horses shied and reared.

Sanity returned to Tony Harrison at that moment. "Here's where we surrender," he called to Stevens and pulled up on Cherokee. "It was a good fight while it lasted," he grinned, for the other was making signs of dissent, "but we're outnumbered."

They halted and pulled up alongside the curb. Immediately they were surrounded by an excited mob and an irate and breathless policeman put authoritative hands on their bridles. Tony smiling sheepishly, looked about him. Everywhere, save on the faces of the policemen, were cheerful grins. Washington, if it had been shocked, at least had been amused.

"Anyway," Joe Stevens was saying loudly, for the benefit of the gendarmes whom he was regarding with a disdainful eye, "we showed the old town more excitement than she's seen in a century."

A man and a girl were in the carriage, the man pointing to the amusing spectacle of two drunken cowboys trying up Pennsylvania avenue traffic, the girl, her cheeks flaming scarlet, staring straight ahead of her.

"Rita!" Tony exclaimed in a hoarse whisper and instantly was cold sober. The man he had never seen before; but he was a young man and handsome in a raxed mustache and Tony could guess. He could only continue to stare, dumbly, his mouth gaping.

He was aware presently of an irritable voice shouting in his ear—a policeman asking for his name. Joe Stevens was saying expansively to the outraged arms of the law, "Boys, it's all right; John Nolan's my brother-in-law."

"And who in hell's John Nolan?" the sergeant of police wanted to know. "Why, the bartender. Runs the saloon down there at the foot of Capitol Hill." He jerked a thumb eastward.

The sergeant snorted contemptuously and Stevens' faith in his brother-in-law's influence began to trickle away like water from a leaky jar. "Don't you know him?" he asked weakly.

"Sure. I know every bartender in town, but all of them put together couldn't keep you two little boys out of jail. Here's the wagon now; come along."

Pawnee Bill bailed them out that night. Tony Harrison told him disgustedly, "I've taken my last drink."

"I'd at least limit myself to maybe four or five at a time," Pawnee Bill said, his eyes twinkling.

That Rita, above all persons, should have seen him under such disgraceful circumstances. . . . "Probably her husband with her," he thought. "More than likely she's married by now."

The magistrate the next morning was inclined to be friendly. He listened privately to some words from Pawnee Bill and let Tony and Stevens off with light fines.

"But you'll have to buy the tobacco dealer a new Indian. The old one"—turning an amused eye toward the silent "evidence" beside the bench—"looks most thoroughly subdued. He is somewhat lacking in spirit. Harrison, I had the pleasure of seeing you perform in Pawnee Bill's show. As an evidence of my appreciation, I am giving you the minimum punishment. But the next time you go on the war path don't tie up traffic."

The show proceeded to New Jersey. At Gloucester a combination was formed with Buckskin Bill's show, the star performer of which was Annie Oakley, the famous woman rifle shot.

"We'll have to put you in the back-ground a little bit," Pawnee Bill told Tony. "You can cut out your shooting act. Although Annie Oakley never saw the day that she could pull a trigger with you, she's got a big reputation, and besides she's a woman. I hope you won't mind."

Tony assured him he would not. The combined show performed at fairs through the state, and although it drew good crowds it lost money because of unfavorable contracts with the fair grounds people. Then the weather got bad; day after day rain spoiled their plans and the money drained out of their little treasury.

Hoping for a change in luck, Buckskin Bill withdrew from the partnership and Pawnee Bill and Charlie Southwell once more proceeded on their own. But the rain continued and fall found them in Maryland desperately trying to recoup their losses in the small towns.

"There's a Jonah around some place," Pawnee Bill said and shook his head sadly.

"Maybe it's me," Tony told him pessimistically.

The older man contrived to laugh. "You're sure been down-hearted ever since that little scrape in Washington. I never saw a man get so remorseful over a little job."

The young man's eyes clouded. "I learned some sense," he said and spat into the rain.

They would play Easton the next day, Pawnee Bill informed him. "And if we don't make some money there we smash. We're broke, and I'm about two thousand in debt to you, between back salary and what I've borrowed."

He shouldn't let that worry him, Tony said. "I feel this thing as much as you do. Another year, with better luck, and you'd clean up. We'll hope for sunshine in Easton."

But in Easton they found more rain and an attachment by the sheriff. The show lacked railroad fare to move on to another town; it lacked money to pay the board bills of its performers.

"Even my trunk's been attached," said Pawnee Bill cheerlessly. "The show business so far has been a complete bust. I'm going to the post-office to see if anybody still thinks enough of me to write."

"I'll go with you. If the sheriff sees me hanging around this tent he might attach me, too."

The postmaster handed Pawnee Bill two letters. They ducked out and ran across the street to the shelter of the little train shed. There Pawnee Bill settled himself comfortably on a baggage truck and turned his attention to his mail while Tony gazed disconsolately into the drizzle of rain.

"This one's for you, Tony. From Joe Craig, I reckon." He had torn open one of the envelopes to find a sealed one enclosed.

Tony slowly ripped it open. At that moment he felt downright sorry for Joe Craig—for the way he had treated him. "Might have written to him anyway," he murmured, and then stared unbelieveingly at the words Craig had penned.

Mrs. Moore was dead. . . . twenty-fifth of September. . . . buried near Manassas, in the family cemetery. . . . Rita and her father in Virginia. . . .

He was profoundly shocked and for the first time since parting with Rita in a blaze of anger, he felt the full measure of his sympathy go out to her. He turned once more to the letter.

"We're still waiting for you to come back, Tony. Anyway, write. Things are right lonesome on the Bar K."

He could well imagine that was true. He turned to the man beside him, but Pawnee Bill, a faraway look in his eyes, was staring into the rain, the down being dashing in his hand.

Tony asked softly, "Did you see bad news, too, Bill?"

The long-haired man answered not to have heard him. When he spoke he said, "That's my letter, as such a thing as dealing after all. This letter's from the chamber of commerce of Wichita. They want me to head up the campaign to get an organization and take them into civilization. The other side the whole funds with a lot of money, so I've got to go back to the city."

They go to Wichita, where Pawnee Bill finds a great reception, where the one topic of conversation is the unopened land to the south.

Whatever the hour—noon, afternoon, evening or after the theatre—when your preference is for "something light". A Snider Chicken Sandwich is to be recommended for its superlative merits. It is thought, and most earnestly believed, that the chicken sandwiches served at Snider's are unapproached in quality elsewhere.

SNIDER'S RESTAURANT

Scarcity of labor in most instances in Grandfather's day made the securing of help a real problem; and the training of new workmen an absolute necessity. Hence the apprentice system. Those were the times when the owner of the business worked hand in hand with his employees — at the work-bench or in the field.

Times have changed—of course for the better! The modern employer is enabled to secure all the help he needs from executives to unskilled laborers, as quickly as vacancies occur.

And here, too, Post-Crescent Classified Ads play their part. The Help Wanted classifications carry local employer's messages to the very workmen they want to reach — either in business or in their homes—and secure a response that makes selection of competent employees a matter of a few hours.

Much of a Match for Experienced Foes

Kaukauna-Neenah scored an easy 25 to 9 victory over Kaukauna High school in the local gymnasium on Friday evening. The invaders held the Kaws to one basket in the first half and three in the entire game. The Red and White used 11 men and outplayed the Macs throughout the game, their floorwork keeping the Kaws puzzled most of the time.

Captain Haase was the individual star of the evening, making 13 or more than half of his team's points and enough to beat Kaukauna lonehanded. This speedy forward made 6 good, clean baskets and dropped one out of three. Neenah's center, made two baskets and 6 free throws for ten more points. Gaerner made the other basket. For Kaukauna Esler, Derus and W. Miller each dropped a basket while Ferguson made two free throws and W. Miller one.

Esler made his basket in the first period and this was the only score made by Kaukauna during the entire first half although it had five chances to make free throws. The first half ended 10 to 2 with Haase and Schneller doing all the counting for the invaders. The Kaws speeded up somewhat in the final period each team making five points but Neenah had substituted many men in its lineup.

DISTILLERS BESECH
CHANCELLORS TO CUT
TAXATION ON LIQUORHigh Taxation Is Doing Much

BY MILTON BRONNER

London-American wets and Americans dry alike would get food for thought if they could see the first of a series of full page advertisements the distillers of Scotch whisky are inserting in British newspapers these days, beseeching the chancellor of the exchequer to reduce the tax on their product.

Before the war the tax on an ordinary bottle of Scotch was about 43 cents. Today it is about $2.12. Whisky sold in Britain before the war at a dollar a bottle. To day it costs about $2.10.

The result is that many whisky drinkers have turned to Continental wines, which are cheaper, or to beer. The brewers also are complaining, because they say the tax on beer has held down the consumption of that beverage.

PLEAD FARMERS' CAUSE

Whisky over here means consumption of the barley crop, and beer means consumption of the barley and hops crops. This is kept cleverly in mind in the advertising onslaught on the chancellor of the exchequer that the dis-son Norman of Appleton were badly bruised in an auto accident Sunday night while returning home from the August Bishop home.

STAGE And SCREEN

WHO'S WHO IN CAST OF "A HARP IN HOCK"

At Fischers' Appleton Theatre Saturday and Sunday.

Rudolph Schildkraut—The chief featured player in "A Harp in Hock." Mr. Schildkraut triumphed in "His People," "Young April," "The Country Doctor," and "King of Kings." He is a world-famed player of undisputed ability and drawing power, and his skill finds some expression in his latest screen appearance.

Junior Coghlan—One of the most prominent juvenile players of the American screen. He became famous by his capital work in "The Yankee Clipper," "Slide Kelly Slide," "The Road to Yesterday," and "Her Man O' War." He is featured in "A Harp in Hock" and fully sustains his reputation.

Bessie Love—One of the most charming of American screen personalities. She scored in "Young April," "Rubber Tires," "Lovey Mary," and "The Song and Dance Man." She will greatly enhance her value by her clever work in "A Harp in Hock."

May Robson—A famous legitimate stage star who evinced her fine talents as a screen player in "Pals in Paradise," "Rubber Tires," and other productions. She has an excellent role in "A Harp in Hock" and her interpretation will be relished by all picture fans.

McAVOY AND NAGEL

STAR IN COMEDY

Newlyweds are given their inuring in hilarious comedy form in Warner Bros. production of "If I Were Single," which comes to Fischers' Appleton theatre for Monday only.

Roy Del Ruth directed May McAvoy and Conrad Nagel as co-stars in this breezy, comedy hit. Each acquires himself remarkably well, as do Myrna Loy and Andre Beranger who play the principal supporting roles. The stars are seen as May and Ted Howard, bride and groom of a year and at a stage where "biting and cooing" have lost a bit of their kick. Hence, when Myrna Loy in the role of the thrill-seeking Joan happens on the scene, the somewhat faded Ted starts a flirtation that soon brings about a critical condition in the Howard household. To reciprocate for imagined and real wrongs May flirts with her piano instructor, played by Beranger, and for a time it looks as though a hurried trip to Reno is the next order of the day.

A pair of thugs finally arrive on the scene at the crucial moment and then the storm clouds—both real and implied in this case—break up. There's just a warm feeling of satisfaction for the spectator, that comes from the enjoyment of unusually good screen drama.

"LOVE" BRINGS TWO BIG STARS TOGETHER

John Gilbert and Greta Garbo, who as a team scored one of the sensational successes of the year in "Flesh and the Devil," and whose real-life romance immediately following furnished gossip for film fans the world over, appear again before the camera, for the first time since, in "Love," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular filmization of "Anna Karenina," Tolstoy's classic of Russia, which comes to the Elite theatre Monday.

The new picture, one of the most gorgeous and spectacular film romances of the season, presents both in roles that neither of them better than any others that could be imagined. Gilbert, splendidly uniformed, is seen as the debonaire and romantic Count Vronsky, a role that recalls his great hit in "The Merry Widow," with Miss Garbo in the role of the tragic Anna, who sacrifices all for love, only to be dogged by a strange and sinister doom.

Edmund Goulding directed the new picture, which was staged on a lavish scale. The cast is notable, including George Fawcett, who played the king in "The Merry Widow," as the Grand Duke; Brandon Hurst as the husband Count Karenin; Philippe De Lacy, Emily Fitzroy, and others of note.

RADIO COMMISSION PLANS ACTIVE YEAR

Increase Field Force to Pursue Program Outlined by Secretary Hoover

Washington—Whether Congress prolongs the life of the Federal Radio Commission or not, the radio section of the United States Department of Commerce is planning an unprecedented year of activity.

The appropriation bill, which has passed the House of Representatives, contains $320,000 for the next fiscal year and for current expenditures the radio section is drawing upon a deficiency appropriation of $140,000.

The $320,000 appropriation includes funds for employment of about a dozen additional radio inspectors. While this increased field force can not eliminate the heterodyne squeals in our radio receivers, due to a superabundance of broadcasting stations, they can make other investigations useful to broadcast listeners.

For example, in trailing non-radio interferences, such as disturbances caused by leaking power lines and various faulty electrical equipment, this extra field force can improve radio reception conditions.

The radio section of the Department of Commerce likewise plans the use of additional radio-equipped motor trucks for radio supervisors and their inspectors. These, duplicating the $4000 car of Supervising S. W. Edwards of Detroit, will consist of complete transmitting and receiving stations, measuring apparatus, wavemeters, and quartz crystal oscillators.

With an increased field force, the Department of Commerce will undertake a program which has long had the sanction of Secretary Hoover. It is the zoning of the service areas around broadcasting stations. This means that the radio inspector will make accurate measurements over a considerable period to determine just what broadcast listeners may expect in the way of reliable signals day and night, summer and winter.

To carry out this project, Uncle Sam has ordered new field intensity measurement apparatus from the Bell telephone laboratories.

This new apparatus not only can determine the strength of signals from a

Local Barber Wiolds Mean Saw And Makes A Nifty Bird Apartment House

While A. A. Grutmacher, who operates the Cozy Barber shop, is rated as a first class barber—and also as a good hunter and fisherman and an (excellent?) golfer—few of his most intimate friends knew that he is also a carpenter.

Recently "Juicy" started work in spare time to construct an ideal bird house and was so successful that it is said he has been approached by several local contractors who want his services for use on something larger than birdhouses.

In fact, it is said, Juicy got such a substantial offer from one firm that he is thinking of selling his barber shop and trying his hand at the new game.

"I didn't know I was so good myself until I started work on this project," said Juicy. "I started out to make a house that would attract several families of martens and as I went deeper into the work I decided I might as well make a good job of it and so I did."

Juicy's birdhouse, which is shown in the accompanying picture, is designed after a model of a residence that is meeting with much favor among home builders today.

"Any young married couple of martens would be delighted to have a flat in this bird house," Juicy said proudly as he exhibited the house. The little house, which is to adorn the top of a pole in Juicy's back yard at 1017 W. College-ave, has five separate compartments.

The house proper is about two and one half feet long and one half foot wide and two feet high. At the rear is a small kitchen addition, which is about ten inches long and eight inches wide.

Construction of the house has occupied Juicy's spare time for the past three weeks.

CARROLL INVADERS APPLETON TO BATTLE LAWRENCE SOPHS

Strong Waukesha Quint Favored To Beat Green Viking Sophomore Five

Hoffman Expected to Start at Forward Berth Opposite Zeke Remmel

PROBABLE LINEUPS

What promises to be one of the best games of the collegiate season here will take place Saturday evening when the strong Carroll college basketball team invades Appleton for a game with Lawrence's sophomore squad, a game that will not count in any conference. The old time conference does not exist any longer and the new conference will not become a reality until next fall.

Carroll started the season with a poor exhibition against many of the Normal school teams with the result that Coach Armstrong wrecked the first squad and started over again. Since that time he has had considerable success beating all the Wisconsin college teams and several in the Midwest conference.

While Armstrong now has a team that has been tried and proven Denny is still looking for a suitable combination to carry the Lawrence colors. The showing of the Vikings against Ripon last Monday was anything but a success and it is understood that the coach read the riot act to several of his more temperamental youngsters.

The return of Hilton, Scheller and Jackola to the squad with the beginning of the second semester has added considerable more strength to the Vikings. However, on Hilton has played with a Denny squad before and the coach is still coasting along on what sophomores can accomplish.

The starting lineup will find Scheller at center, Hoffman and Remmel at forwards and Pierce and Slavic at guards. If Scheller is in condition Lawrence's chances of coming through will be good. After a big victory in the third period, Carroll Ripon last Monday the big center seemed to tire and with another good man playing against him accomplished very little.

Freshmen teams of the two schools will meet in a preliminary game at 7 o'clock and the main attraction will start at 8. The Blue frosh are favored to win the opener.

BADGER COACH FAVORS NEW GRIDIRON CHANGES

Madison — Glenn Thistlethwaite, Wisconsin football coach Thursday expressed a general approval of the recent action taken by the football rules committee in their meeting in the east. The main features of the session were seven recommendations for changes in the code which were referred to the reorganization committee.

All of these changes passed by the committee in a unanimous vote, and in most cases should improve the game," stated Thistlethwaite. "With the possible exception of one rule, the changes should take some of the burden from the officials, which, of course, is very desirable."

The Badger coach is heartily in accord with the alteration which discourages screen passing with the provision that no player of the passing team may interfere in any manner with an opponent either before or after the pass has been made.

Thistlethwaite is not entirely in accord with the provision that the backward pass be thrown two yards through the air to the under the ruling of last year. "In the case of the backward pass," he said, "I really believe it should be eliminated entirely. This would be a return to the 1926 rule which was much easier on our officials."

BADGER SKATER ENTERS NATIONAL TOURNAMENT

Madison — (P) — Harold Dubinsky, member of the strong Wisconsin skating team, has left for Detroit to compete in the national skating classic over the weekend. The Cardinal skater will perform as a St. Louis entry. Dubinsky features a triple jump in the derby in his home city. St. Louis this winter, and has been a high point winner for the Badgers in their winter sports schedule to date.

Cardinals Take Part In Quadrang Track Contest

Evansville, Ill. — Four track teams — Chicago, Ohio, Northwestern and Wisconsin — will compete here Saturday, Feb. 18, in the Fifth Annual Quadrangular Track and Field meet. The winner of the first three meets and Ohio, last year's victors, are expected to be hard pushed by Northwestern and Chicago in the forthcoming contest.

All four teams will enter a number of star performers who will go far toward splitting up the points. Capt. Dick Williams of Chicago, conference indoor half mile champion, will lead the Maroon team in its quest for points.

Chicago is also expected to pick up a number of points in the shot put with such performers as Buck Weaver and Vin Libby, both capable of tossing the iron ball around 45 feet. Northwestern's Lewis and Karsens who headed the weight around 46 feet will materially weaken the Purple in this event.

Some lively competition should result in the 40 yard dash when Hermansen and Wilkens of Northwestern, Courtney Gleason of Chicago, Tooley of Ohio and Smith of Wisconsin match strides. This quintet of sprinters should negotiate the short

WALSH LEADER IN OPEN GOLF GRIND

Appleton Pro Scores Flashy 69 to Top Field in South Open

Shooting five birdies and scoring three under par for the outgoing nine holes, Frank Walsh, professional of the Battle des Morts Country Club, Friday, led a brilliant field of American golfers in the first 18-hole round of the South Central open tournament at Hot Springs, Ark. Walsh took a card of 22-35-49 in the meet in which he took second place last winter.

Frank's putter worked brilliantly in the opening nine holes and he headed off Henry Cuiel of Bridgeport, Conn., who had 35-35-70.

Eight players stood at par or better for the 18. These included Joe Kirkwood of Albany, Ga., with 71; Mac Donald Smith of New York with the same score and Charles Manning, Pittsburg; Dewey Weber, Chicago; Tommy Armour, National Open champion, and Johnny Golden, Palerson, N. J., each armed with a par 72.

Some 20 players followed with scores under 80, including Joe Turner and Al Espinosa with 74 each and Harry Cooper, runner up in the last National Open having a 76.

Trouble was experienced by many of these with both drives and putts. At the cups especially scores mounted up. It was Walsh's uncanny ability with his driver and on the green that gave him his lead. In addition to his birdies on the way out he played two holes in par, two holes one above, and each of the last nine was executed in even par figures.

TWO APPLETON TEAMS IN MONEY IN STATE EVENTS

Only two Appleton bowling teams finished in the money in the Wisconsin State Bowling tournament at Madison, Friday evening. Hoppies Wieners, a high place winner last year, was high for Appleton with a 2831 score on games of 962-935-924.

Second high score went to Retson and Jimos Hat Cleaners with 853-1000-887-294. Frank Fries led the Wieners with a 287 score and Andy Jimos had high game for his team, 219.

Other scores of Appleton and neighboring teams, all of which finished outside the money:

Blue Moons (Kimberly) — 900-919-858-2677; Arcades, 862-903-877-2663; Bauer Plumbers, 872-831-875-2683; Dick's Five (Little Church)—909-867-92-2568. All the bowlers will roll their doubles and singles Saturday and Sunday.

Minneapolis—Johnny O'Donnell, St. Paul outpointed Sid Barbarian, Detroit (10). Dick Daniels, Minneapolis (6). Dick Dick Watzel, St. Paul (6). Mike Valentine, Duluth, knocked out Jack Nitti, St. Paul (11).

MERGED FIRMS WILL PRODUCE NEW RADIOS, TALKING MACHINES
Meyer-Seeger company, Local Sonora Agents, Expect Big Improvements Soon

Sonora has recently announced the merger of four great companies—the Sonora Phonograph company, the Bidhamson company, the Premier Laboratories, and the Liberty Electric company. With this merger of brains, men, money, resources and experience has been born a new and progressive force in the music industry. The Bidhamson company, which holds valuable patents, numbers among its officers and organizers a number of well-known captains of industry.

The Premier Laboratories, headed by well-known radio holds patents covering loud speakers, electrical recording apparatus and electrical phonographs. These patents have never been divulged to the public or the trade and constitute in themselves new and major advancements in the acoustic field.

The new corporation, incorporated in New York state and entirely financed by its board of directors and present stockholders, has been named the Acoustics Products Company. E.
L. Deutsch of Chicago, who developed the phonograph division of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, is president.

Lacked by this amalgamation of interests, the Sonora Phonograph Company retains its name and identity as a separate corporate structure, with
P. L. Deutsch as its executive head.

Mr. Deutsch plans to manufacture and sell a complete line of radio and talking machines which do not occur in properly distributed line. The subject is fraught with experimental difficulties, as we cannot deliberately submit human beings to dangerous conditions for the sake of improved statistical reports from the industries supplemented by theoretical consideration.

As far as our information goes it appears that illumination of good quality—for example, well guarded against dazzling glare—has no obvious injurious effect on eyes, but defective illumination and the industrial accident rate has been demonstrated in this country or abroad as far as published data show," says Professor Jackson, "although common sense points out that accidents in the general walks of life
occur in dim light which do not occur in properly distributed light. The subject is fraught with experimental difficulties, as we cannot deliberately
submit human beings to dangerous conditions for the sake of improved
statistical reports from the industries
supplemented by theoretical consideration.

Several of the first steps taken following organization of the new company, was the development of a recording laboratory. Walter G. Haenschen, stockholder, has been named director. Mr. Haenschen is one of the outstanding experts in modern recording methods and practice. He is one of the veterans in the industry and has been associated with every

Factories Lack Proper Light, Professor Says

Cambridge, Mass. —(AP)—Scientific studies in industrial lighting, made in four countries, suggest that factories in general are not properly illuminated, says Professor Dugald C. Jackson, head of the electrical engineering department at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Professor Jackson is chairman of a committee appointed by the National Research Council to investigate industrial lighting with special reference to its effect on the workers' efficiency. Several conclusions of this research have been incorporated by him into a preliminary report on observations made by the committee in factories and college laboratories during the three years the inquiry was in progress.

Work done along similar lines by French, British and German scientists, as well as by the American committee, show in common, says Professor Jackson, "an international recognition of the importance of proper lighting in industry, and a sentiment that the industries as a class are not characterized by proper lighting."

Approaching the complex problem with the aid of physics, psychology and physiology, the committee made inquiries into the relation between illumination and fatigue, accident, efficiency and the morale of factory workers.

"No definite relation between illumination and the industrial accident rate has been demonstrated in this country
or abroad as far as published data
show," says Professor Jackson, "although common sense points out that accidents in the general walks of life
occur in dim light which do not occur
in properly distributed light. The subject is fraught with experimental difficulties, as we cannot deliberately
submit human beings to dangerous conditions for the sake of improved
statistical reports from the industries
supplemented by theoretical consideration.

As far as our information goes it appears that illumination of good quality—for example, well guarded
against dazzling glare—has no obvious
injurious effect on eyes, but defective
illumination and the industrial accident rate
has been demonstrated in this country
or abroad as far as published data
show," says Professor Jackson, "although common sense points out that in properly distributed light. The subject is fraught with experimental difficulties, as we cannot deliberately

submit human beings to dangerous conditions for the sake of improved
statistical reports from the industries
supplemented by theoretical consideration.

Several of the first steps taken following organization of the new company, was the development of a recording laboratory. Walter G. Haenschen, stockholder, has been named director. Mr. Haenschen is one of the outstanding experts in modern recording methods and practice. He is

VACUUM TYPE SYSTEM DOES MUCH TO HELP OLD HEATING PLANTS

Amount of Steam Required Cut Down by Installation of
New Invention

Owners of buildings which still are heated by steam through old heating systems would do well to have the entire system gone over by experienced heating engineers or plumbers according to Ryan and Long. Local plumbers and heating experts. One building, the heating system of which was recently overhauled, is the Post bldg. 123 S. Appleton-st.

The heating system in this building, according to the local plumbers, was installed in 1900 making it 28 years old at the present time. New additions have been added to the building and additional pipe lines installed. New radiators from greater number have been added from time to time as changes in the structure were made, with the result that the building could not be heated economically although the central plant was good.

Ryan and Long suggested the old pressure system of heating the building be supplanted with a vacuum type system. The first move was to install Hoffman air vents on the radiators. These vents permit out passage of air in the pipes and radiators but do not permit in passage. When air is forced out the first time a vacuum remains into which steam under two or three pound pressure easily penetrates.

Radiators near the furnace were equipped with traps which shuts off the steam as soon as the radiator is filled. The excess steam then circulates to other sections of the building with the result that a few pounds of pressure now heats a building that formerly required 6 to 12 pounds of steam on ordinary cold days.

The result of changing from the old pressure system to the new vacuum type system is that the Post bldg. now is heated more economically than before and trouble from warm radiators in some sections and cold radiators in others has been eliminated. There are many other buildings in the city that experienced the same trouble the owners of the Post bldg. did according to Ryan and Long.
They will do well to call in a plumber and have him look over the system.

JACK LOCKWILL'S HELPING HAND

Jane Hargon was more self-possessed. "We heard something moving in our room," she explained quickly. "Betty screamed, but I snapped on the lights. Both of us saw something in white disappear behind the portieres. Then we ran out into the hall, and I locked the door behind us." "Well, I guess you've caught the ghost," said Jack. "Let's take a look at it!"

"He's turned off the lights!" whispered Jane. "Look out!" Jack stepped inside and snapped the lights on again. "Here he is!" he cried, springing toward the portieres.

Some of the excited girls screamed again as Lockwill grappled with a figure hidden behind the curtains. In a moment he had dragged a sheet-robed form into view. The unknown resisted with all his strength, and Sinnott sprang in to help Jack. As they struggled with him, the fellow tore away, leaving the sheet in Jack's hands, and leaped desperately through a window. (To Be Continued)

NEW LONDON GUARDS BLOCK CLINTONVILLE AND WIN GAME, 20-10

Orange and Black Had but Little Chance to Score in Rough Game

Special to Post-Crescent
New London — Hampered by an air-tight defense, the Orange and Black basketball team of Clintonville high school defeated by the local Red and Whites Friday evening on the local floor, 20-10. New London's guards, Kiech, Beckert, Seims and Edminster were so effective that the Clintonville forwards were forced to resort to long shots. Whenever they did have clear shots in sight, their inability to locate the basket cost them numerous goals. Werner again led the scoring for the Orange with five baskets and two free throws. Sweedy was next with four baskets. Grissold, at center, played mostly a defensive game holding the Orange and Black center to no points. New London took the lead in the first quarter by running up seven points. Clintonville did not get started until late in the second quarter. The half ended 11-6 in favor of New London. Clintonville managed to make two long shots in the second half, and at one time made five throws at the hoop before scoring.
Werner started the ball rolling by grabbing a short pass from Sweedy underneath the basket and making a neat shot. Sweedy followed by another short basket which the guards fed to Bud Edminster who added another point on a free throw, after Werner had made another basket. New London missed three chances to score on fouls. Clintonville got away from their zero score by making two free throws. After a mix-up under the basket, Clintonville's guard shoved through and a little while later repeated. Just before the whistle blew Sweedy made another basket on a long shot.
At the opening of the second half, Clintonville missed a lot of shots through the guarding of Edminster and Kiech, though they had possession of the ball most of the time in the third quarter. Numerous fouls were called on both teams, Werner seeming to be the only player exempt. In the fourth quarter Sweedy scored after a dribble and brought the score 14-6. A second later he was again uncovered and shot the ball. Werner who added another basket. Clintonville followed through with a pretty shot and again Sweedy and Werner came through with a basket apiece. Clintonville's guard made another nice long throw followed by Edminster passing the ball to Werner who made the final basket of the evening. The game ended with both teams playing pretty rough, and neither side scoring via the free throw route.
The customary after the game dance followed with the high school orchestra, playing. Clintonville was well represented with a bunch of peppy fans.

The mayor's salary was increased from $250 to $500 per year, city attorney from $300 to $500 per year; janitor from $240 to $360. The salary of the aldermen also was changed and instead of receiving $1 for each meeting attended they will receive $100 per year, with $1 extra for each committee meeting attended. Other salaries remain the same.

Upon recommendation of the chamber of commerce the council voted a $2,000 bonus to the Atlas Engineering company. Short Talks by Thoughtful Mothers
A New England Mother says: "Our children are very susceptible to coughs and colds. Being located some distance from town, we felt the need of a good reliable cough medicine, and when our druggist recommended Foley's Honey and Tar Compound as the best in his experience, we accepted his judgment gladly. For coughs, croup, whooping cough, troublesome night coughs, bronchial coughs, we have tried it time and again, always with complete satisfaction." Sold everywhere.

Business Failures Depend On Prices For Commodities

Washington—(P)—When prices decline the number of business failures is to be necessary.

The chart illustrates the trend. During the war period, when prices were rising, the number of failures declined, reaching the low point in 1921, when there were 60 per cent less than in 1913. Prices began to rise steadily in 1916, reaching the peak in 1920. When a sharp decline set in with the depression beginning in 1920 the number of failures doubled almost immediately. During the period of comparatively stable prices from 1921 to 1926 the number of failures varied only slightly.

Conclusion is drawn by the Department that during periods of high prices some business houses tend to over-expand. Descending prices "squeeze out" those who expanded too much, as well as those who entered business on the wave of high prices. Sound financial and merchandising policies in periods of high prices thus are believed to be necessary.

HENRY DELONG WAS WISCONSIN PIONEER

Waupaca Man Who Died Recently Had Lived in State for Many Years

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—Henry DeLong 91, who died at his home Feb. 5 was one of the oldest settlers in this community, having lived in this vicinity for nearly three quarters of a century.

Born near Mansfield, O., Feb. 1, 1837, he came to Wisconsin in 1854, settling near Dale. He moved to Appleton in 1900 and to Waupaca two years later, having resided here for the past quarter century.

Surviving are the widow and eight children, all of whom were present at the time of his death except Albert DeLong of Albany, Oregon, and Mrs. Effie Wason, Flats, Mont.

He had been a member of the Outagamie-co Pioneer's association since 1911.

Friends and relatives from out of town who attended the funeral services were Miss Alice Dusenbury, Mr. and Mrs. James Kanick, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. DeLong, Mr. and Mrs. Earl DeLong Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Eva and Mrs. J. G. Ous, Ashland, Mrs. V. Lepple and Mrs. Robert Wason, Medina, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Settenberg, Oshkosh; and Malcher DeLong of Butte, Mont.

East Pittsburg, Pa.—(P)—A photo-electric cell twelve times as sensitive as the best now in use has been perfected by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company primarily for its experiments with talking motion pictures. Tubes of this type are used in the projection of talking movies that record both voice and picture on a film.

Vladimir Zworykin, research engineer who has developed the cell, says its leading feature is its constancy, for it has been designed to last indefinitely. Three thousand hours is the maximum life of most photocells, but Mr. Zworykin asserts that the new one will give far longer service. Its action is virtually independent of voltage.

The super-sensitivity is obtained by coating the inside of the glass tube with an improved light-sensitive substance that permits the cell to react to infinitesimal changes in radiation.

A fast electric railway to carry both passengers and freight is being planned to connect Hachioji and Odawara, Japan.

A professor in an Osaka college, Japan, and a so-called "modern girl" committed suicide by poison recently because they were in love and could not marry.

STONY PATHS BESET AVERAGE BILLS ON WAY THRU CONGRESS

Files, Committees and Conferences Balk Measures at Every Turn

BY BODEY DUTCHER
Washington—What happens when a bill is introduced in Congress? Plenty! All sorts of sieves await it and if it can get itself made law in the face of controversy, it may consider itself lucky. Many persons have forgotten just how a bill becomes a law, so here's how:

A bill is introduced in a house, then on the speaker's desk and becomes introduced. The bill clerk then takes the bill, numbers it and sends it to the government printing office, where it is printed. Copies are then returned to the House and Senate document rooms.

It then is referred to the committee which handles legislative preliminaries for measures of its general nature and the committee clerk gives it a date on the calendar. The committee decides to have hearings on the bill and notifies all interested parties so that they may present their arguments for or against.

MANY DIE EARLY
After the hearing, it is referred to a subcommittee which reads the hearing records, generally changes the text and perhaps the sense, and reports back to the committee whether the bill ought to have consideration or not. The committee may then adopt the bill or disapprove it.

If decision is favorable, the chairman reports the bill to the House. Many bills die in committee, but assuming that our bill gets through, it is sent to the speaker's desk. The bill clerk gives it a report number, it is printed again in its altered form and a date is set for debate. It is then read for amendment and after the debate, if any, it is submitted to a vote. It may be passed on by a viva voce vote, by yeas and nays, by showing of hands after a teller from each side has been appointed to count or by a roll-call, which is a long, arduous proceeding, with 435 members of the House, even though they're far from all present.

PRINTED AND FILED

If passed, the bill goes by special messenger to the vice president's desk in the Senate. It is printed and filed, retaining its bill number, and again referred to the appropriate committee, which may vote to hold new hearings or consider the bill on the basis of hearings before the House committee. It follows along the same procedure in the House until it reaches the Senate floor. It may then be called up on the calendar or by unanimous consent, or on a two-thirds vote by invoking cloture.

If, after debate—which is limited to one hour in case of a cloture vote—the bill is passed as received from the House, it then goes to the president for signature.

If any amendments are made, the bill goes back to the House. If the House refuses to concur in the amendment or amendments, the speaker and the president of the Senate each appoint a committee of five which meets as a joint conference committee and undertakes to smooth out the differences between the two bodies.

THEN COMES CONFERENCE
After the conference committee agrees on the final form of the bill, it goes back to both House and Senate, its new form. If the House votes for the conference clerk enrolls it on parchment paper and is signed by both the speaker and the president of the Senate. If the vice president isn't handy, the president pro tem of the Senate can sign it.

The committee on enrolled bills then takes the thing and sends it by a messenger to the White House. Not counting Sundays and holidays in which it is signed, the president has ten days in which to sign it. If he ignores it, it becomes law without his signature.

The exception is when Congress has adjourned. Then all bills sent to the White House within ten days of adjournment and remain unsigned are automatically vetoed—this being called a pocket veto. If it is formally vetoed it goes back to Congress with a message stating the presidential objection. If signed, the State Department proclaims the new law and puts it in the state archives.

4-H CLUB WORKERS HOLD MEETING HERE

Work of Clubs Sponsored by State Explained at Conference in Courthouse

BY W. F. WINSEY

Ten promoters of 4-H club work, representing the state and Outagamie county met in the county courthouse Saturday morning to plan for the organization of the boys and girls of the county for club work next spring. The speakers were W. McNeil, assistant state club leader; Noel, assistant county agent; George H. Fiedler, secretary of the Seymour Fair association; Isador Sholl, president of the Hortonville Fair; Arthur L. Collar and Miss Nellie McDermott, school supervisors, representing the rural schools of the county.

After relating the history of the development of 4-H club work, Mr. McNeil said: "4-H club work is a movement supported out of public funds designed to teach rural boys and girls, 10 to 20 years of age, in and out of school, better farm and home practices. It is a part of the general agricultural extension system of the state and national governments of which rural agents are the representative and the chief contact man."

"It works this way: A boy or girl goes into club work contracts to do a definite, constructive piece of work relating to farm and home life. It may be the raising of a calf, a pig or growing an acre of corn or potatoes or canning fruits for home consumption, or making simple garments and finally a wardrobe, or it may be the preparation of a feast for the entire family. Then finally the entire meal for a period of time. Such boys and girls are organized into clubs which are regularly organized for the transaction of business for instruction in the best methods to employ in their projects and for social good times. A great deal of emphasis is placed on the social good times for the youth must learn that their own homes and neighborhood are their own homes and neighborhood of their own kind of opportunity for the finest times. County and state fairs offer these youthful achievers chances to compete against each other for substantial prizes. Such conditions tend to establish high standards in workmanship and teaches early in life the spirit of superlativity in the 'give and take of life.'"

"Club work teaches the business side of farming and homemaking as well. Each club member must have a record book in which he keeps tab on his time in labor, expense, incurred in carrying on his work and the items of income. Achievement buttons are awarded all members at the conclusion of the year when they have completed their club work. These days of awarding achievement and honors are gala days in many of the countries of the state, for farmers, towns people and business men often make this occasion a day of mingling and rejoicing together in the victories of youth."

Other persons present at the meeting were A. V. Drier, Shiocton; Joseph J. Weyer, Kaukauna; Albert Ring, Seymour; John Buchholz, Seymour; Raymond Scholl, Hortonville.

The committee on enrolled bills then takes the thing and sends it by a messenger to the White House. Not counting Sundays and holidays in which it is signed, the president has ten days in which to sign it. If he ignores it, it becomes law without his signature.

ROHAN SIGNS THREE YEAR CONTRACT TO HEAD CITY SCHOOLS

Spring Vacation Will Start Week Later Than Originally Scheduled

Ben J. Rohan was given a three year contract as superintendent of city schools at a meeting of the board of education Friday evening. Mr. Rohan has been superintendent of schools since establishment of the union system about three years ago.

The spring vacation of Appleton public schools will be postponed one week, it was decided by the board. The recess, as originally scheduled, would begin on March 23, but because Passion week falls during the first week in April, it was decided to make the two coincide. Many absences on Holy Thursday and Good Friday, which disturb the attendance records of the schools, is the reason for the change. The spring vacation will now be scheduled, begin the afternoon of March 30.

The board voted to equip the grade schools with a graded series of books in art, geography, history and science. Each book of the series of eight takes up the study and analysis of ten famous paintings, acquainting the child with the masterpieces and their artists. This study will be a part of the supplementary reading program that is being worked out in the public schools.

George Steffen, Hortonville, was responsible for an accident on Highway 26 last May in which he was severely injured and therefore he cannot collect damages from John F. Miller, 713 N. Superior-st., a municipal court jury held Friday night after seven hours of deliberation.

Steffen sued for $2,500 from Miller and the Hardware Mutual Casualty company, charging Miller was responsible for the accident. The trial opened before Judge Theodore Berg Wednesday morning and went to the jury about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. A decision was reached at 11 o'clock Friday night.

The complaint charged Miller was driving his automobile on the wrong side of the road at a high rate of speed.

COUNTY BOARD FACES BUSY SESSION WHEN IT CONVENES MONDAY

Paving of County Trunk Z and Sale of Certificates Most Important

Many important matters are expected to come before the county board at the special February sessions which open Monday, according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk. The meeting is expected to last four or five days and may possibly continue all week.

Probably the most important business will be that of deciding whether to provide funds to pave County Trunk Z from Appleton to Kaukauna on the south side of the river. The estimated cost of this project is $150,000 and proponents of the plan would provide a bond issue to raise the necessary money. Resolutions favoring the improvement from Appleton, Kaukauna, Little Chute, Combined Locks and Kimberly and from several of the towns through which the road passes, are on file and will be read to the board.

The question of selling county owned tax certificates at less than face value will also be brought before the meeting. A special committee investigated the feasibility of the plan and the committee will report that it approves of the sale but that only the county board can make such transactions.

LAWRENCE COLLEGE

In a peculiar way Lawrence college and the city of Appleton are knit together. The school was founded before the town, chartered in 1847, and the city was named after one of its principal benefactors. Lawrence was located near the center of Appleton and has remained the center, not only of its area, but of its life. As the city has grown and prospered, so has the college. Now Appleton and Lawrence are both institutions of which we have every reason to be proud. Both vigorous; both growing; both are full of promise for the future.

Every school year more than a thousand students make Appleton their home. As a tangible asset, they spend over $600,000 a term with Appleton merchants. Then too, many of these students become so attached to this community during their four year stay in school that, upon graduation, they locate here permanently entering into the business and manufacturing concerns of this community.

Lawrence college is a strong factor in our educational system and a strong educational system in any community is a decided asset. This factor constitutes our largest single gain toward our economic, social, and commercial welfare.

Not all colleges are alike. They are as different as individuals. A careful scrutiny of information concerning courses of study, environment, and student life brings out the fact that Lawrence ranks with the best of higher educational institutions in this country.

One of Appleton's Greatest Assets

Lawrence is one of the oldest colleges in the state being founded one year before Wisconsin was admitted to the Union. It is a modern business-like institution offering scientific and technical training and music, in addition to liberal arts. It is not chiefly concerned with producing specialists in one field, but rather with giving its students that broad, basic foundation of liberal training so valuable alike to teacher, preacher, doctor, lawyer, manufacturer, and business man.

We of this community must realize that Appleton stands at an important period in her economic history. The advantages we possess from being first in many fields of industrial endeavor may be challenged, as our country grows older and industries develop elsewhere. Yet, we can maintain the great industrial supremacy we have attained by one product that is invincible: that is — the production of real men. Here is where Lawrence college plays an important part. The type of man needed most of all in this community, and in every community, must have at least three qualities: he must have a thorough knowledge of the technical elements of his own particular business; he must be thoroughly grounded in the broad and fundamental principles which underlie all business, and above all, he must be possessed of a spirit which will impel him to unite with others for the advancement of the public good. This type of man is best produced by education, and Lawrence college with its excellent broad, basic training does produce this kind of man.

Why Choose Lawrence? Because—
